"Chandu the Magician"—Startling, Thrilling—At Torrance Two Days

With Edmund Lowe and Bela Lugosi as the mystic antagonists, and Herbert Mundin as the Cockney comic, "Chandu The Magician," Fox Films version of the radio thriller, should prove to be a good combination of drama and comedy.

All nations fear the day when science perfects the Death Ray, a gun capable of killing and destruction at enormous distances through the mysterious forces of electricity. Such a weapon is perfected by Robert Regent, kindly old inventor, a principal character in the familiar radio broadcasts, "Chandu The Magician," recently filmed as a feature by Fox Studios with Edmund Lowe enacting the title role. When Roxor, the scheming, sinister villain of the drama, played by Bela Lugosi, gets possession of this deadly ray, kidnapping Regent and his family in the process, Chandu sets out to regain it and to rescue the inventor and his family. It is this central conflict that motivates the stirring plot of the picture to be shown at the Torrance Theatre Sunday and Monday. How Chandu engages Roxor in a terrific battle of wits, forcing him to stay the hand that is already at the levers that will send death and destruction hurtling around the universe, supplies the thrilling climax of what is said to be one of the tensest dramatic scenes ever filmed. "Chandu The Magician" was adapted from the original radio broadcasts and presents its most stirring episodes. Gene Ware plays opposite Lowe in the dramatic lead, with Bela Lugosi, Herbert Mundin, Henry B. Walthall and many other popular players rounding out the supporting cast. Marcel Varnel and William Cameron Menzies co-directed. Mrs. Harner Davis (Kathlyn Wheaton) of Berkeley is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George T. Wheaton, at 1228 Arlington avenue.

FREE CANDY

"Heroes of the West," new serial now being shown at the Torrance Theatre, Saturday afternoon matinees only, is a thrilling tale of the early days of the West, and deals particularly with the construction of one of the great trans-continental railroads. Its episodes are tense with danger and filled with interest that holds the spectators spellbound. Episode No. 2 comes to the Torrance next Saturday afternoon. At this performance also, FREE candy will be distributed to the children. Don't forget, next Saturday afternoon, matinee only.

Joe E. Brown In Hilarious New Comedy At Warner Bros. Theater

More hilarious gags and comedy stunts are said to be involved in Joe E. Brown's latest First National picture, "You Said A Mouthful," than any production which has been shown on the screen in many years. The entire story, which will play Thursday, Friday and Saturday at Warner Bros. San Pedro Theatre, is based on a series of grotesque errors which lead to the most surprising and laughable incidents. Brown is said to be at his funniest, and has as his co-worker and mascot, that roguish imp of the "Our Gang" comedies, Farina. Ginger Rogers, red-haired and peppery musical comedy and screen star, plays the feminine lead. "The booking of 'Air Mail,' Universal's great drama of the men who wing their way across the continent with the government mail, has been announced by Manager Fred C. Crow to open a three-day engagement next Sunday. This exciting picture, it is said, tells the story of the unsung heroes to whom facing death and danger is just a part of the day's work. Events center around a desert airport mail relay station where a group of flyers of different types of character and various pasts are gathered to "put the mail through" regardless of all obstacles. The drama of their lives in the constant shadow of a flyer's death, and the clashes of personalities in the isolated station, provide this film with unusual power and excitement, according to advance reports. Ralph Bellamy, Pat O'Brien, Russell Hopton and Slim Summerville enact the featured male roles of the rapid action film, with Gloria Stuart and Lilian Bond providing the feminine leads with expert characterizations.
